

Something New For The Folly in 2015

Junior Craft Workshops

Our family Activities Team has been working hard to bring a new venture to The Folly this year. We are trialling a series of Junior Craft Workshops which will be quite different to our previous Activity Days.

The afternoon workshops will take place on a Wednesday, when The Folly is closed to the public, so we will have the parlour to ourselves!

The craft activities will be more focussed than we have previously been able to offer, with better materials provided for our visitors to use.

We plan to provide one or two activities, to allow plenty of time for completion within the two and a half hour sessions.

During each session there will be a refreshment break (drink and biscuits or similar) and in the case of the Easter event, we are providing an Easter Tea Party.

As the activities on offer will be a little more challenging, we have set a lower age limit of 7 years old for these workshops.

We will be operating a booking scheme for the following reasons:

- We have limited spaces available, so we need to work on a first come, first served system.
- As we need to buy materials specifically for each session, it will be necessary to know our numbers beforehand.
- We will ask you to complete a booking form as it will be helpful to know the age of the child, contact number, any allergies, medical conditions etc.

A charge of £5 per child will be made to contribute towards costs. We would need this to be paid when the booking form is returned.

As we ask that you leave your child in our care, we require that you sign a Parental Permission Slip on booking.

Our first event, Junior Craft Workshop and Easter Tea Party will take place at The Folly on Wednesday 1st April, from 2 – 4.30pm. The closing date for booking a place for this workshop is Monday, 16th March 2015
